I like bars on the page to select the area you want to look at. Also, I like highlighed information that is important or has changed it was informative and easy to read layout #2 had a better menu and overall structure so you could better quickly tell where to go for information. And it was visually appealing. I like clean pages that have easily identifiable links and sections.

Not easy to identify key information. There was not much useful information on it. It was mostly about the teacher and not much about the class. It looked disorganized and like the teacher had no clue about how to manage the website technology. I don't like the blogs/sites with many colors and fonts that differ. Too busy!
