It is nice to be able to see what assignments have happened recently and it is also nice to be able to see what assignments were available during a certain time period. calendar is great and easy to use. It gave me quick information re: what my kid should be doing. The blog is nice because it can explain in more detail. For assignments that necessitate explanation, links, or further information, a calendar that linked to a blog would be ideal. For instance, if I were to click on the calendar assignment, a box with additional links to documents, websites, or information should accompany. T...

Just the blog style posting makes it more difficult to find past assignments. I know just enough to be dangerous. Too brief... You have to do more scrolling and reading to find specifics on a blog style site. I think MOST teachers, administrators, and parents would find a calendar (perhaps in the format described above) to be more user-friendly. We think in dates and most people are used to a calendar. The calendar style can be confusing if assigning multiple assignments or have multiple assignments due on the same day.
